Index
Volume 25
(1993–94)

AUTHOR INDEX

Alemna, Anaba A. African Library Science Journals: The Missing Link. 48

Arboleda, Amadio A. The United Nations University Press. 179

Ballinger, Steven C. The Rhetoric of Sales Conferences: How to Talk to Sales Reps. 3

Bedell, George C. Florida: Now, A Kinder Gentler Press. 38

Bennett, Scott. Repositioning University Presses in Scholarly Communication. 249

Berkner, Dimity S. CD-ROM Marketing: A Case Study. 114

Cameron, Hamish. Editorial. 131

Carrigan, Dennis P. The Emerging National Periodicals System in the United States. 93

DeGeorge, Richard T. and Fred Woodward. Ethics and Manuscript Reviewing. 133

Edelman, Hendrik. Precursor to the Serials Crisis: German Science Publishing in the 1930s. 171

Ellis, Charles. Copyright in Russia. 53

Grossman, John. Researching the Fourteenth Edition of The Chicago Manual of Style. 63

Hall, Max. An Embarrassment of Misprints. 11

Irizarry, Estelle. Redundant and Incremental Publishing. 212

Irizarry, Estelle. Telling Figures: The Indispensable Editorial Database. 195

Kincade, Douglas and Lauren Oppenheim. Marking It Up as We Go Along: Into Editorial Production's Electronic Future. 233

Luey, Beth. University Press Trade Books in the Review Media. 84

Maguire, Mark. Secure SGML: A Proposal to the Information Community. 146

Miller, J.R. Whose Data Are They, Anyway? 79

Oppenheim, Lauren and Douglas Kincade. Marking It Up as We Go Along: Into Editorial Production's Electronic Future. 233

Paul, Sandra. Scholarly Journal Identification: Entering a New Era. 126

Piternick, Anne B. Author Problems in a Collaborative Research Project. 21

Raimes, James. Developing a CD-ROM. 107

Rose, Jonathan. The Society for the History of Authorship, Reading and Publishing. 103

Rowson, Richard C. A Formula for Successful Scholarly Publishing. 67

Schnucker, Robert V. The Case for Journal Abstracts. 58

Stevens, Norman D. Pseudo-Journals: The Next Phase of Scholarly Publishing. 187

Strangelove, Michael. Using the Internet for Marketing: A Publisher's Secrets. 203

Tibbo, Helen R. Specifications for Camera-Ready Copy: Helping Authors Be More Productive. 221

Waddle, Keith A. Reader-Response as a Method of Editing Letters. 157

Woodward, Fred and Richard T. DeGeorge. Ethics and Manuscript Reviewing. 133

SUBJECT INDEX

Authors, Writing, and Publication

Grossman, John. Researching the Fourteenth Edition of The Chicago Manual of Style. 63

Miller, J.R. Whose Data Are They, Anyway? 79

Piternick, Anne B. Author Problems in a Collaborative Research Project. 21

Business and Management

Rowson, Richard C. A Formula for Successful Scholarly Publishing. 67

Computer Applications

Berkner, Dimity S. CD-ROM Marketing: A Case Study. 114

Irizarry, Estelle. Telling Figures: The Indispensable Editorial Database. 195

Kincade, Douglas and Lauren Oppenheim. Marking It Up as We Go Along: Into Editorial Production's Electronic Future. 233

Maguire, Mark. Secure SGML: A Proposal to the Information Community. 146

Paul, Sandra. Scholarly Journal Identification: Entering a New Era. 126

Raimes, James. Developing a CD-ROM. 107

Strangelove, Michael. Using the Internet for Marketing: A Publisher's Secrets. 203

Tibbo, Helen R. Specifications for Camera-Ready Copy: Helping Authors Be More Productive. 221

Copyright

Ellis, Charles. Copyright in Russia. 53

Maguire, Mark. Secure SGML: A Proposal to the Information Community. 146

Editing and Editorial Decisions

Hall, Max. An Embarrassment of Misprints. 11

Waddle, Keith A. Reader-Response as a Method of Editing Letters. 157

History of Publishing

Arboleda, Amadio A. The United Nations University Press. 179

Rose, Jonathan. The Society for the History of Authorship, Reading and Publishing. 103

Journals

Alemna, Anaba A. African Library Science Journals: The Missing Link. 48

Carrigan, Dennis P. The Emerging National Periodicals System in the United States. 93

Edelman, Hendrik. Precursor to the Serials Crisis: German Science Publishing in the 1930s. 171

Irizarry, Estelle. Redundant and Incremental Publishing. 212

Irizarry, Estelle. Telling Figures: The Indispensable Editorial Database. 195

Paul, Sandra. Scholarly Journal Identification: Entering a New Era. 126

Schnucker, Robert V. The Case for Journal Abstracts. 58

Stevens, Norman D. Pseudo-Journals: The Next Phase of Scholarly Publishing. 187

List Building

Raimes, James. Developing a CD-ROM. 107

Libraries and Publishing

Bennett, Scott. Repositioning University Presses in Scholarly Communication. 249

Manuscript Editing

(see Production)

Marketing and Distribution

Ballinger, Steven C. The Rhetoric of Sales Conferences: How to Talk to Sales Reps. 3

Berkner, Dimity S. CD-ROM Marketing: A Case Study. 114

Luey, Beth. University Press Trade Books in the Review Media. 84

Strangelove, Michael. Using the Internet for Marketing: A Publisher's Secrets. 203

North America, Scholarly Publishing in

Bedell, George C. Florida: Now, a Kinder Gentler Press. 38

Policy, Publishing

Bennett, Scott. Repositioning University Presses in Scholarly Communication. 249

DeGeorge, Richard T. and Fred Woodward. Ethics and Manuscript Reviewing. 133

Irizarry, Estelle. Redundant and Incremental Publishing. 212

Production

Kincade, Douglas and Lauren Oppenheim. Marking It Up as We Go Along: Into Editorial Production's Electronic Future. 233

Tibbo, Helen R. Specifications for Camera-Ready Copy: Helping Authors Be More Productive. 221